DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's election with traverse of Group III (i.e., claim 5) in the reply filed on 2/26/2009 is acknowledged. Upon indication of an allowable product claim, those methods drawn to the allowable product will be rejoined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Publication Nos. 20050075400, 20050014949, 20040181089, 20040116526, based on applications by Yahalomi et al. (collectively "Yahalomi").

Yahalomi teaches nateglinide G-type crystals, see for example, Figs. 6 and 40. Those physical characteristics covered by the claims are invariably possessed by the crystalline forms disclosed by Yahalomi, see MPEP 2112.01 ("Products of identical chemical composition can not have mutually exclusive properties." A chemical composition and its properties are inseparable. Therefore, if the prior art teaches the identical chemical structure, the properties applicant discloses and/or claims are
